Memorial Day 2003

Guantanamo Bay gathered Monday morning to commemorate those who have served the United States in the name of freedom around the world.

This annual observance is a tradition celebrated locally at Cuzco Cemetery, among those whose lives ended here in the pursuit of, or in the defense of freedom.

This year's event was highlighted by the bugle calls of Naval Station Security's MA3 David Bahling, the playing of Amazing Grace on bagpipes by SPC Greg Sphunder of the 2-116th Infantry, the vocal talents of NCTAMSLANTDETS IT1 Carolyn Stevenson singing the national anthem, and Michelle Thorton, who performed God Bless America.

Marine Corps Security Force Company's Rifle Salute Team rendered a 21-Gun Salute during the ceremony.

At noon, a 21-Gun Salute was also rendered at the saluting battery on McCalla Hill.

Honoring Dads in the Navy Log

As Father's Day fast approaches, the U.S. Navy Memorial Foundation in Washington, D.C., is encouraging sons and daughters to enroll their parents, who served in the sea services, in the Navy Log.

Whether your mother or father has served in the Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Merchant Marine, they can be honored forever in the Navy Log. The Log is a collection of names, photographs and individual stories of the men and women who have served in any of the U.S. Sea Services. The Log can be viewed by visitors to the U.S. Navy Memorial in Washington, D.C., or via the Internet at www.lonesailor.org.

The Navy Log currently contains the names of more than 250,000 servicemen and women. Most of the names are of current veterans who are self-enrolled or who have been enrolled by gift tributes from family or friends. A large number are of deceased veterans enrolled in the Log by their decedents or surviving shipmates. And still there are also many current sea service personnel whose names are contained in the Navy Log.

Those enrolled form a part of America's enduring naval heritage. Their names will be forever contained in the U.S. Navy Memorial as a tribute to their service.

Each Log entry contains the entrant's name, date and place of birth, dates and branch of naval service, highest rate or rank attained, up to five top medals and awards and five duty stations.

Log enrollments help support the Memorial's values-based educational programs, which honor, preserve and celebrate our naval heritage.

Those who would like to enroll their mother or father should send his or her name, date and place of birth, dates of naval service, highest rate or rank, up to five awards received, and five duty stations served. A $25 tax-deductible donation for enrollment to the Log should be sent to: Navy Log Department, Dept. Y2003; P.O. Box 96570; Washington, D.C. 20077-7685

A head and shoulders portrait photograph may be added for an additional $25, (photos cannot be returned).

The U.S. Navy Memorial Foundation is a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization that receives no government support for building and operating the Navy Memorial or the Naval Heritage Center, which is adjacent to the Memorial Plaza on Pennsylvania Ave.

For more information about the Navy Log, contact David J. Michael, director of the Navy Log at 1-800-NAVY-LOG ext. 730, or email at: navylog@lonesailor.org.

Vet Clinic Reminders

◆ In order for your pet to travel off the island, the veterinarian must examine your pet within 5 days of your scheduled flight to issue the health certificate. However, if your animal is ill or overdue for vaccinations, you must let us know at least two weeks prior to your travel date.

◆ If, due to circumstances beyond your control, you absolutely cannot take your pet with you when you transfer, the best thing to do is place an ad in the paper. As a last resort, you can bring your pet to the vet clinic. For a charge of $50, we will do our best to place it into a new home.

◆ As a reminder, your pet is registered to you with its permanent microchip number. Until you come to the clinic to sign over the ownership of your animal, you remain legally and financially responsible for it.

◆ It's easy to change over ownership. Simply come to the clinic with the new owner and fill out the required paperwork.

◆ If you go on leave and have someone else care for your pets, you must fill out a vacation pet authorization form. It informs us who is authorized to provide care for your pet in your absence. This form can be picked up from the vet clinic.

National Safety Month

Today, safety is a way of life. Not just on the job, but at home, in public places, and on the road. People are taking personal responsibility for their own safety, and making plans to keep their families, communities, and workplaces safe.

The National Safety Council (NSC) has designated June 2003 as National Safety Month, an annual observance aimed at promoting preparedness and helping people prevent injuries on the roads and in homes, communities and workplaces.

National Safety Month presents the National Safety Council's approach to preparedness with the theme, Four Words. Four Weeks. For Life. The four words—Knowledge, Action, Dedication and Community—reflect the Council's focus throughout its 90-year history of safety leadership. They figure in the four weeks of National Safety Month—Driving Safety Week, Home and Community Safety Week, Preparedness Week and Workplace Safety Week. And the Council reminds us that safety is not just for National Safety Month, it's for life.

For more information on National Safety Month or for safety tips, log on to www.nsc.org.

Students Learn About Life on Leeward

By Randy Frye

With the end of the school year right around the corner, the 2nd and 5th grade classes at W.T. Sampson Elementary School took the opportunity to go on a field trip to Leeward side of GTMO. It was a nice break away from the classroom and allowed the kids to see different parts of the command that support the mission on Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

A ride in GTMO's U-boat to the Leeward side started their adventure. The U-boat is used to transport passengers back and forth from Windward to Leeward during nighttime hours when the regular ferry is not running.

As they arrived on Leeward after the approximately 20 minute ride, the classes boarded a bus and headed for the Leeward side Fire Station where they were treated to a fun demonstration of the capabilities of the Crash and Fire crew and a tour of the Fire Department building, of course they all had to use the bathroom.

The students were entertained and educated at the same time as the Crash and Fire trucks rolled onto the flight line with crews demonstrating their ability to move down the flight line while spraying water. The water nozzles are used to shoot water at long distances while combatting aircraft fires at a safe distance. The water spray was a sight to see and brought cheers and smiles to the faces of the kids.

After the demonstration, the fire fighters answered the students questions. Fire Inspector Cecil Hall worked the young crowd answering questions from "How far does the water spray?" to "How fast does the fire truck go?". Inspector Hall is a recent addition to GTMO's Fire Department and enjoys educating people on the unique mission of the Fire Department. He especially enjoys the curiosity of the children.

The students seemed to enjoy every minute of the demonstration and the questions and answers. Their appreciation goes out to the Fire Department for what they do, and on this day, to the Leeward fire crew.

After the Fire Department it was on to the galley for some good ol' Navy chow. Actually, the galley on Leeward has quite a reputation for excellent food and service. Without hesitation the galley staff accommodated the very hungry 2nd and 5th graders and ensured that everyone left with a full stomach. They even provided ice cream bars following the main meal.

A special thanks goes out to the crew at the Leeward Galley for making the meal happen without a hitch.

A good meal deserves some outdoor activity, so from there it was on to the beach.

At Chapman Beach the kids were able to explore. For some, it was their first opportunity to see the Leeward beach.

Chapman Beach doesn't see a lot of visitors, but maybe this trip will have the kids coaxing their parents to venture across the bay to the seldom visited Leeward side. After all, Chapman Beach has a lot to offer in addition to the quiet and solitude.

Above: Fire Inspector Cecil Hall answers the various question of curious 2nd and 5th graders from W.T. Sampson.

The kids rounded out their field trip with a ride back on the Ferry and a bus ride back to the school.

As they look back, they'll have a better understanding of the Fire Department, especially when they hear the sirens.

For some who may not have eaten in a "Galley" before, they may want to to return and try it again.

A Garden Party

A new tradition has begun! Thanks to Terri McCoy, wife of NAVSTA Commanding Officer, Capt. Les McCoy, the ladies of Guantanamo Bay will now join together annually to observe the Deer Point Garden Party. Terri said the reason she decided to hold the event was to thank the ladies of GTMO for their hospitality and giving her such a warm welcome to the island. She also wanted them to be able to socialize in a unique environment. The ladies created quite a fashion statement, as well. Hats were a mandatory part of the event and prizes were awarded to those hats with a special flair. Neena Nelson won for Most Outrageous and Most Original. Marie Goode-Spencer's hat was voted Most Colorful. Tina Schmitz's hat received many laughs as she walked away with the prize for Most Humorous. The Most Beautiful Hat prize went to Loretta Nygard. It was a fun-filled event and one the ladies cannot wait to repeat in 2004.

Oh, the Places They'll Go!

Although on a "smaller" scale than the upcoming High School graduation, children from the Child Development Center's Swimmers Program and the Before and After Sure Start Program were just as proud to receive their "diplomas" at a ceremony held last Friday at the Community Center. All dressed up and on their best behavior, despite the temptation of many colorful balloons, the tiny graduates treated their proud parents to a beautiful rendition of "I Am Somebody," followed by a recitation of The Seashell Poem. After the applause died down, the children were called by name to receive their diplomas which were presented by NAVSTA Commanding Officer, Capt. Les McCoy. Finally, the parents joined in to dance the Hokey Pokey with their children and enjoy the delicious refreshments. It was a fun-filled event for all who attended and one parents won't soon forget.

Red-tail Hawk

Creature Feature

"Creature Features" are submitted by The Guantanamo Bay Environmental Office

By Paul Schoenfeld

Natural Resources Manager

The Red-tail Hawk (Buteo jamaicensis) is a common resident hawk at GTMO. They can also be found throughout North and Central America. Red-tails breed as far north as Alaska and Nova Scotia and south through Panama and the Lesser Antilles. Red-tails in the northern part of their range will migrate south for the winter. They are common and widespread permanent residents of Cuba. These are the most common and widespread hawks of the genus Buteo, meaning buzzard.

While many people call vultures buzzards, the Buteo hawks are the true buzzards and are frequently seen soaring with vultures. They are large hawks ranging from 18 to 25 inches long with wingspans of approximately four feet. Females are larger than the males.

Red-tail hawks are appropriately named for their distinct red tail which is easily seen when the bird is soaring overhead. This is the best identifying characteristic. Colors range from light to dark brown but the undersides are lighter than the rest of the body. There is a great deal of color variation especially in western North America where blackish colors occur. The legs and feet are yellow.

Red-tails are raptors (birds of prey) and feed on a variety of birds, rodents, and reptiles. They are capable of taking medium sized hutia and iguanas but most of their diet consists of small rodents. Like most raptors, red-tails have excellent vision and are very agile flyers. They rely on their vision for detecting prey and their agility for pursuing it. They subdue the prey with very powerful talons (claws) that lock on and pierce into the victim. When females are nesting, males take the prey to female and young in the nest.

Nests are usually 2 to 3 feet in diameter and may be used over several years. Both male and female build the nest from twigs and bark. Nests may be anywhere from 12 to 60 feet off the ground. When nests are used over successive years, they are constantly maintained and added to. Some of these red-tail nests are known to be about 3 feet tall.

Red-tails are sexually mature at about two to three years old. They are monogamous and only seek new mates when theirs dies or is otherwise lost. One indication of a breeding pair is the male and female perching together to hunt in the spring. Courtship displays include the birds soaring together in circles for extended periods of time and diving down on each other making contact with their talons. One to five eggs are laid and both parents incubate the eggs for about 30 days. The young fledge (leave the nest) in about 45 days. In Cuba, nesting takes place anywhere from January through July.

Red-tails are very beneficial hawks. Throughout their range, the majority of their prey consists of rodents. At GTMO, they provide a service by preying upon introduced black rats and Norway rats. They also take immature hutia however, adult hutia are usually too big for red-tails to successfully prey upon.

PERSONALS

Farewell to Bridging Daisy Girl Scouts Olivia Ulfers, Princess Beard, Kaela Darbe, Samantha Sotelo, and Tatiana Schultz. I am proud of your accomplishments as Daisy's and look forward to watching you grow as Brownies.

Tonja Campbell

My heartfelt thanks to Mark Veditz and the Air Terminal personnel for going that "extra mile" to help people in need. In early April I received an emergency phone call that my Mom had a stroke; in late April I received the sad news of her passing, both times on a Tuesday around noon. Both times Mark and his staff did the impossible for me to be able to take the AMC flight to Roosevelt Roads. Thanks to them I was able to attend my Mom's funeral. I also need to thank the Security fast boat group for providing speedy transportation both times to Leeward while the AMC flight was being delayed on the ground awaiting my arrival. Only in GTMO will you receive such caring and personal service. Our Air Terminal personnel are unsung heroes that many times we fail to praise and thank. In a time where I could not think clearly and I thought my world was falling apart, a lot of caring and wonderful people came to my rescue. CDR Dowden, Misty and Jackie made sure that all the paperwork, phone calls and necessary people were informed. Thanks to the Fire Department for allowing my husband to accompany me. To my co-workers, friends and the GTMO community, thank you for your support, cards, flowers and comforting words to help ease my pain and fill my void. Last but definitely not least, to my dear husband Joe for standing beside me and being my strength. May God bless all of you always!

Thank you, Mig Hettler
